

Frequently Asked Questions: 2017/18 Mountain Collective Pass

What do I get when buy a Mountain Collective (17/18) Pass?

Those who buy the Mountain Collective Pass (17/18) receive two free days of skiing or riding, 50% off any addition single day lift tickets purchased thereafter, and exclusive lodging deals at each of these 16 destinations:

Alta (Utah), Aspen Snowmass (Colorado), Banff Sunshine (Alberta), Coronet Peak/The Remarkables (New Zealand), Jackson Hole (Wyoming), Lake Louise (Alberta), Mammoth Mountain, (California), Revelstoke (British Columbia), Snowbasin (Utah), Snowbird (Utah), Sugarbush (Vermont), Sun Valley (Idaho), Squaw Valley Alpine Meadows (California), Taos (New Mexico), Telluride (Colorado) and Thredbo (Australia).

Autumn Sale Promotions – Why should I join early and buy now?

- Guests who purchase during the autumn sale (begins on March 7) are able to select a bonus day at the resort destination of their choice.
- Quantities of the spring sales promotion are limited and will run out.
- Pricing and promotions are subject to change at any time.

How does the third bonus day work?

Guests who purchase a Mountain Collective pass during the autumn sale, must choose one destination to receive the third bonus day, which must be selected at the time of purchase and will be displayed on the confirmation email. During the 2017/2018 season, guests who purchased during the spring sale will receive three complimentary days at this one destination and will then be eligible to purchase additional days at 50% off. *Please note: The third bonus day cannot be changed once an order has been completed.

Which destinations are Global Affiliates and what do I get from them?

Global Affiliate resorts include Chamonix (France), Hakuba Valley (Japan) and Valle Nevado (Chile). Mountain Collective Pass Holders (18/19) receive two free days only at each destination. However they don't access any additional discounts on additional days or lodging discounts.

What changes are there to the Mountain Collective destinations for the 2017-18 season?

Beginning with the 2017-18 season, Sugarbush, Vermont and Snowbasin, Utah are new destinations. In addition, Alta, Snowbird, Banff Sunshine and Lake Louise have been divided and are now considered four separate destinations.

WhistlerBlackcomb and Stowe are no longer part of the Mountain Collective.

What is the difference between a DESTINATION and a MOUNTAIN?

Guests will receive two days of skiing at each DESTINATION, not MOUNTAIN. For example, guests receive two free days of skiing between Alpine Meadows and Squaw Valley, as those two mountains are the same destination. This is also true for the Aspen's mountains (Highlands, Buttermilk, Snowmass and Aspen); the Mammoth Resorts (Mammoth Mountain, June Mountain, Bear Mountain, and Snow Summit); Ski Queenstown-Coronet Peak-The Remarkables; Sun Valley's Dollar & Bald mountains.

Are there any blackout dates for redeeming my first two days or 50% off tickets?

There are no blackout dates with the Mountain Collective Pass or the 50% off lift tickets

What lodging deals are offered to Mountain Collective Pass holders?

Mountain Collective Pass holders (17/18) get exclusive access to great lodging deals at each of the Mountain Collective destinations. More information on specific lodging discounts is available at www.mountaincollective.com

*Please note: Some lodging properties will have blackout dates, in which Mountain Collective Pass holders are not eligible for a discount. Please note that Ski Queenstown-Coronet Peak-The Remarkables does not offer lodging.

When is the Mountain Collective pass valid at Southern Hemisphere resorts Thredbo, Coronet Peak and The Remarkables?

The 2017/2018 Mountain Collective Pass is valid during the 2017 ski season at Thredbo, Coronet Peak and The Remarkables. Passes for the 2017 Southern Hemisphere season are available now.

Where do I purchase my Mountain Collective Pass?

Passes can be purchased online at www.mountaincollective.com Or via one of the following travel partners: Ski Max, Travelplan, Mogul Ski World, MySnow Holidays, Blue Powder Tours and Snowcapped Travel.

Where do I pick up my Mountain Collective Pass?

Upon purchase you will receive an email confirmation and a unique barcode number which you will use to redeem your pass at each destination.
